PILE REMEDY.

Piles—What unceasing tortures arise from Internal Bleeding, External and Itching Piles. The willing endeavors to obtain even partial relief has discouraged the millions who suffer, and they have borne their agony in silence, thinking there was no hope or prospect of a cure. Notwithstanding the total failure of the many remedies heretofore offered for the cure of piles, and the picture of agony resting on the face of those who have tried the various remedies but in vain yet eagerly sought for and anxiously tried anything in it promises the least relief, until their energies has been exhausted, their despondency, let them cheer up, allow the smiles of happiness to illuminate the haggard countenance, and the duties of life will be performed with a degree of happiness as if they had never suffered weeks, months or years. Briggs' Pile Remedies are the result of unceasing study and experimenting, the loss sufferings of multitudes, and the most perfect safe, scientific and reliable for the cure of piles in every form. Briggs' remedies are sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg, Pa.

CATARRH is the most universal and distressing disease of the present age. None of the medicinal remedies offered for the cure of this disgusting disease, which are worse than worthless in their offensive nature, have met with the success of a cure in vain for relief and cure until their countless gone and the victim still suffers in doubt. Here we are with Dr. Josiah Briggs' Catarrh Specifics No. 1 and 2, and how shall we proceed to convince them? We have the best and cheapest remedies known, but we will furnish them to responsible parties on conditions—No 1 CURE NO PAY.—But will pay $500 for a case they will not cure, and—Will pay $500 for their equal as a cure. 4th—Will pay $500 if anything poisonous or deleterious is found in their composition. 5th—Will pay $1,000 if in any respect Dr. Josiah Briggs Catarrh Specifics are found different from representation. Warranted to instantly relieve and positively cure Acute, Chronic, Hereditary and Offensive Catarrh, Cold in the Head, and all affections of the cavities of the head and throat. Two bottles in one box. Greatest success of the age. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg, Pa.

BUNION BALSAM.

Bunions, Corns and others inmates of the feet cause much suffering among all nations, by whom shoes are worn. There is more than $10,000 worth of boots and shoes destroyed annually in the United States in the rest of the world more than $1,000,000 by cutting white new, or nearly so, to make room for bunion, corns, ingrowing nail, sore heels, &c. Besides this person and $2,000,000 annually in New York to chiropodists about $2,000 annually in New England states about $1,000 in the western and southern states about $500, and the rest of the world about $500. Besides this there is $500,000 spent annually for bunions and other worthless compounds for the cure of Bunions, Corns, Sore Instep, and Sore Heels, &c. To all such sufferers we would especially use, use Dr. Josiah Briggs' Bunion Balsam and Sure Corn Cure, which is the only preparation known that gives instant relief and positively cures hard, soft and ulcerated Bunions hard, soft and festered corns, vascular excrescences, callosities large and small, sore instep, blisters of heels, tender feet, ingrowing nails, &c., without causing the least pain or soreness. Warranted safe and sure. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Local and constitutional treatment for all Catarrhal affections. Dr. Josiah Briggs' Catarrh Specifics are offered to those afflicted with acute, chronic, ulcerative or dry catarrh, cold in the head, hay fever, relaxed palate, sore throat, hoarseness, loss of voice, and all affections of the throat, nasal passages and head, with a guarantee that they are cheaper, better, more efficacious, curing quicker, with more certainty, and more agreeable to use than any remedy yet discovered. Two bottles in one box, one of which reduced with water makes 64 ounces for use. Price $1.00 per package, furnished to responsible parties on conditions—No 1 CURE NO PAY. Dealers are authorized to refund the money if purchasers are not satisfied. The specifics are convincing proof of the merits of the following test: Read and be convinced. 2d—Will pay $1,000 if any poisonous or deleterious substance is found in their composition. 3d—Will pay $1,000 if in any respect Dr. Josiah Briggs Catarrh Specifics are found different from representation. SIMMONS' LIVER DISEASE and indigestion prevail to a greater extent than probably any other malady, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the liver is regulated in its action healthy action is generally secured. Indigestion or want of action in the liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Depression of Spirits, and a hundred other symptoms of Dyspepsia. SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered for these ailments. It acts mildly, effectually, and being a simple vegetable compound can do no injury in any quantities that may be taken. It is harmless in every way; it has been used for forty years, and hundreds from all parts of the country testify to its virtues, and Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia; John Gill Shorter, of Alabama; Gen. Joseph E. Brown, of Georgia; Bishop Pierce, of Georgia; Hon. R. B. Nott, of Columbus, Georgia, are among the hundreds whom we can refer. Extract of a letter from Alexander H. Stephens, dated Monday, 1870, "I consider your valuable Liver Regulator, in its Simmons Liver Regulator, with good results. It is mild, and suits me better than pills." It is not the quality eaten that gives strength, the blood and muscle, but the thorough digestion of the food that we may derive benefit from. It is not what we eat that makes us healthy, but rather assimilation of the food.

The present owners of this paper have just completed their first year. During that time the office has been greatly improved, new and valuable machinery, new type, and other material have been added, and it can safely be said that we have the largest and best stocked office in this section of Pennsylvania. For the patronage of the public in general, and the Democratic party in particular we are duly grateful. By using every effort to give our readers a first class weekly and by doing the best of job work at reasonable prices we hope to merit a continuance of the public confidence and patronage.

The State election in Indiana and Ohio will take place next Tuesday. The political excitement runs high and large meetings are being held nightly by both parties, which are addressed by leading orators. The Democrats of Indiana are confident of success, though the republicans have been using tremendous efforts and large sums of money to break the majority.

Ohio, always republican, has been made doubtful, and if the republicans carry it by 3,000 they will be happy. But it will be only holding their own.

If Indiana goes Democratic now there are strong hopes of Wisconsin in November, and even Pennsylvania will grow shaky.

If Ohio and Indiana should both go Democratic, the election of Hancock in November will be only a form, as his success will be assured.

THE PANIC DODGE.

The cry against the "Solid South" having aroused many southern republicans against the party that has been making it, and not having succeeded in firing the northern heart as was expected, the Republican party has been looking around for something new with which to stay the tide of defection that has set in against their candidates. The "Southern brigadier" business, the "Rebel war claims" and all that sort of stuff did not answer the purpose, as the organization of Hancock Republican clubs all over the country went on. Something new must be found, and so their leaders held a council and decided upon their last expedient. The North must be scared. The order went forth to the organs, and simultaneously all over the country went up the wail from Republican throats that "if the Democracy are successful a great panic will be inaugurated. Business will cease, and the great industries of the country will be at a stand still." On the strength of this cry they are asking for large sums of money with which to buy votes in Indiana and Ohio.

When the panic of 1873 began under a republican administration, the organs of that party were kept busy in trying to prove to the people that the political complexion of the government had nothing to do with the panic. It was brought about by the failure of crops, by loss of confidence among business men, &c., &c., and upon such arguments they based their claim for a continuance in power. Now they reverse themselves completely, and ask to be continued in power because the success of the Democracy will produce just what the administration could not control in 1873.

But is there the slightest indication of a business panic? The country is prosperous, the crops this year will be abundant, large amounts of money are being brought among us through heavy importations to foreign markets. The Philadelphia Ledger, owned and controlled by G. W. Childs, a prominent Republican, says that the markets are constantly giving evidences of increased prosperity. And all this, notwithstanding the fact that the election of Hancock is becoming daily more and more probable. The attempted scare is a gross humbug. It is calculated to depress the markets in order to give the republicans a slight ground on which to base their cry. It has failed in this, however, just as it will fail in securing what it is intended for, the election of Garfield.

Show this paper to your Greenback neighbor and let him read "Food for Greenbackers" so that he may know how his candidate for President has sold out his party. Every vote for Weaver is a vote for Garfield.

I DO NOT KNOW ANY REALLY GOOD MAN WHO HAS DONE AND ASSISTED IN DOING SO MANY BAD THINGS IN POLITICS AS GENERAL GARFIELD.—Jeremiah S. Black.

In their quotations from Judge Black on Garfield the Republican editors always omit the above paragraph. For them to publish a garbled extract from Black's letter, and omit the sharp point of Black's opinion, is not quoting him truthfully.

The present generation of Pennsylvania workingmen can remember what it is to have their workshops, their factories and nine tenths of their industrial establishments closed. Do they want the scenes of the panic of 1873 reproduced? If they do, then they will vote for Hancock.—Ph. Inquirer.

Yes, the workingmen and everybody else remember the panic of 1873 very well. They also remember that this panic was inaugurated by the failure of J. Cook & Co., leading Republican bankers, and government agents. They also remember that in 1873 the Republican party had full control of all the branches of government, and that it was during their mismanagement and corrupt rule that this panic was begun. They also remember that the country returned to prosperity after the Democrats became a majority in congress. Under such circumstances how can the election of Hancock reproduce the Republican panic of 1873. The only panic that such a thing will cause will be among the present office holders.

A Tariff for Revenue Only.

From the Springfield Republican, Garfield.

The Democrats, on the other hand, say they want a tariff for revenue only. As a large revenue is necessary and the Democrats are not likely to increase the internal revenue by raising the taxes on spirits and tobacco it is clear that a tariff for revenue is likely to afford all the protection needed. Besides the Democrats are not of one mind; they are supposed to protect Louisiana sugar Georgia iron, Texas wool, Pennsylvania and New Jersey manufactures.

Thus it may be seen, that the able and well informed opposition papers admit and say that in the hands of the Democrats all the great industries of the country are safe. And it is the more especially true because the speaker of the House is a Pennsylvania tariff man, and Hancock is also a Pensylvanian interested in the development of his State; and these facts against Garfield, who is by conviction a free trader, and so speaks and votes. All men therefore who desire to protect the iron, the wool, the sugar and the cotton will vote for Hancock.

Besides, the Democrats are likely to dispense with all stamps upon cheques and thus relieve the business of the country from that annoying burden and place upon imports duties the raising of that sum.

The whole business of the country is interested in putting the Democrats into power. Protection to all industries, North and South, relief from all unnecessary stamp duties, economy in the public expenditures will all come from the election of Hancock.

Garfield's Perjury.

A CLEAR STATEMENT FROM JUDGE BLACK—HE REPLIES TO CERTAIN INTERROGATORIES SUBMITTED TO HIM BY "THE SUN."

To the editor of the New York Sun—SIR: Your questions are entitled to a candid answer. I will set down their substance and give my reply to each one in order as you put them:

1. Did I mean in my letter to Mr. Blaine that Gen. Garfield acknowledged the receipt of stock and dividends from Oakes Ames?

Unquestionably he agreed to take the stock, and did receive dividends upon it. The letter plainly implies that he had not concealed, or tried to conceal, that fact from me. But his admission was coupled with a statement which showed him to be guiltless.

2. Did he declare to me that he would go before the Poland committee and testify truly that he had taken the stock?

I had no previous conversation with him about his testimony before the Poland committee, and I did not know what it would be until I heard it delivered.

3. Did I advise and urge him to tell the truth?

No; certainly not. Such advise and urgency would have been a most outrageous insult, which I could not offer to any gentleman of his character.

4. Did he agree to adopt the line of defense suggested by me?

You seem to think that I was his counsel. I was not; but, as his friend and a believer in his perfect innocence, I was extremely anxious that he should get safely out of this unfortunate business. After it began to be discussed in the newspapers, and before the committee was appointed, I besought him to make no statement for the public eye which might be inconsistent with what he said to me. Lest he might forget it, or miss the important points of it, I repeated the substance of it somewhat carefully. He did not reply, and I learned soon afterward that he had authorized a total and flat contradiction. Simultaneously, the other members of congress who were implicated made separate statements of the same kind, assuring the public that they never had taken or owned any of the stock, or received any dividends upon it.

5. Why, according to my understanding of the fact, did Garfield adopt a defense so contrary to that he had agreed on?

I have already said that he made no agreement about it. His reason for abandoning the true ground of his defense was, doubtless, the necessity he felt himself under of making common cause with his political friends, for whom there was no refuge except in a fundamental falsehood. I am, with great respect, yours, &c.,

J. S. BLACK.

The public are now informed what General Hancock would do on the subject of rebel claims if he were elected to the presidency, but they are in ignorance of General Garfield's position on that subject. Nearly all of those claims are in the hands of Republican claim agents and as Garfield has been playing claims attorney at Washington he may be an attorney for some of those agents. Who knows to the contrary. Now let us hear from General Garfield.—Patriot.

A movement is now on foot to make the middle penitentiary a reformatory institution.

The Republicans hardly like Conkling's method of supporting Garfield by electioneering for Grant four years in advance.

Spain, with only 17,000,000 inhabitants, turns out yearly twice as much wheat as does Italy with 28,000,000 inhabitants.

FOOD FOR GREENBACKERS.

And now the Democratic managers are endeavoring to buy off the Greenback-Labor candidates. We shall presently be able to note with what degree of success the enterprise meets.—W. B. Record.

When the Record editor wrote the above lines he was either ignorant of the facts, or else willfully misrepresented them. In order that the people may know who has been buying the Greenback candidates we print below, the letter of Hon. F. W. Hughes to Gen. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for President and also the letter of Dyer D. Lum.

POTTSVILLE, September 20, 1880.

General JAMES B. WEAVER, National-Greenback Labor candidate for President:

Your dispatch of the 27th instant to me from Indianapolis, saying among other things that you first saw my dispatch to you in a Democratic daily in Indianapolis, I have just seen for the first time, and at this moment, in a Republican daily in this place. You defend yourself from my charge by making an issue as to one I did not make. The point of my charge was no that you were opposed to a joint electoral ticket in Maine or any where else. It was that you encourage a disorganization in Maine, having evidently the tendency to defeat four Greenback electors and, by consequence, to secure seven electors for Garfield. The nomination of the electors in Maine was no part of your duty, but of the members of our party there. After the party in Maine by its delegates in convention—with almost entire unanimity—had selected its electors, whether to your liking or not, it was your duty to submit and to aid in their election. If such secession could not be alwayt except by the defeat of four Greenback electors and consequent election of seven for Garfield, and you then interfered to support a disorganization that could have no effect other than to defeat the Greenback electors and help the election of those for Garfield, you are responsible for any such result, whether you intended it or not. Did you intend it? It is a principle of jurisprudence that each one of sound mind shall be presumed to have intended the natural consequences of his own act. As a lawyer you have seen this principle applied to the extent of conviction of the highest of crimes. You are a gentleman of intelligence, and with your dignified bent for epithets would no doubt denounce any one as a slanderer and calumniator" who would charge that you had not intelligence enough to know that the effect of your encouragement of disorganization in Maine would tend to defeat the four Greenback electors selected by the organization there and thus ensure the success of seven Garfield electors. This was my charge against you, and this you don't attempt to answer, but evade the issue and talk about your honesty, by impliedly charging that the Greenbackers of Maine are not "honest," because they formed an alliance with the Democrats, and you say "no honest man can have any respect for an organization that will do it." This personal affront to the Greenbackers of Maine I have no doubt such gentlemen as Governor Paisted, Congressmen Ladd and Murch (the latter chairman of the national committee) will duly appreciate. In your disatch to me you say you have no choice between Democrats and Republicans, yet you have acted in the direction of making seven electors for Garfield by the defeat of three Democrats. This looks like a decided preference for the Republicans, especially as you give the Republicans these seven electors by also defeating four Greenbackers. You say that I insinuate you are actuated by sinister motives." If your motive for interfering with the organization in Maine so as to tend to defeat the Greenback electors was not sinister, pray explain what it was? Your assertion that you wanted a full Greenback electoral ticket won't answer, for when you sent your disorganizing dispatch to Chase the regular nominations had already been made and the convention adjourned sine die. If your motives were not sinister you have but one escape, and that is to confess you had not intelligence enough to understand the natural consequences of your act. If you have not such intelligence then withdraw as a candidate and let us nominate some one that will not make such blunders. But let us see whether you have not made equally as great a blunder and shown your preference for the Republicans even so late as Monday last. On the morning of the 27th you issued an address "to the Greenback-Labor men throughout the United States, calling attention to a speech made by Senator Bayard in New York "that the people may know that the Democratic party and its candidates" are pledged "to destroy the greenbacks." Were you sincere in that declaration, or was it not made because of your desire to elect Garfield? You made no reference to the fixed Republican hostility to the greenbacks. Why not? I have given you credit for intelligence and I trust I do not ask too much when I expect you will remember the facts as shown by the record upon the Weaver resolutions in behalf of the greenback at the last session of Congress. The vote as shown by the record was, viz.: Yeas, 95; nays 117; not voting 90. Of the yeas 72 were Democrats and but one Republican. Of the nays 87 were republicans; Democrats, 30. In Indiana (where you wrote this address of the 27th) five Democrats voted aye, with none in opposition, while three Republicans voted nay. Three Republicans and one Democrat did not vote. In Ohio five Democrats voted yea and one nay. No Republican voted aye, but seven voted nay. The respective State platforms of the Democrats in Indiana and Ohio in 1878 were as decidedly Greenback as were those of the Greenbackers. Your address of the 27th is leveled almost exclusively at the Democrats, and assumes the belief, on your part, of Mr. Bayard's opinion. You know the record above given contradicts that view. Why did you not adhere to your pretence, as per your dispatch to me, that you are indifferent between the other parties? As to your epithets, let an impartial public judge to which of us they are best applicable.

F. W. HUGHES.

Dyer D. Lum, the Assistant Secretary of the National Greenback Labor Committee, has sent to Congressmen elect Thomas H. Murch, of Maine, a letter describing the operations of General Weaver, the Greenback candidate for the Presidency, and George O. Jones, the Chairman of the Greenback State Committee of New York, and calling upon Mr. Murch, who is Chairman of the National Committee, to call the committee together and give him an opportunity to present the proofs of his statement. Mr. Lum is the man who made arrangements with Chairman Marshall Jewell, of the Republican National Committee, to go to Maine and prevent a union against the Republicans on the electoral ticket in that State. He has in his possession, letters from Mr. Jewell, telegrams and other documents, to substantiate the statement he has made, all of which he intends to produce if his present statement of facts is denied. These letters, as he describes them show that Chairman Jewell has been "running" Weaver and the Greenback party as the secret allies of the Republicans, while openly the Republican managers strive to make capital of the Fusion in Maine. Committeeman Lum's letter is dated at the headquarters of the committee in Washington and says:

"I distinctly make the charge that the Greenback national canvass as now conducted is manipulated in the interest of the Republican party and General Weaver's expenses borne in a large measure from the Republican campaign fund. This is a serious charge, but it can be sustantiated in every detail, and I believe my duty to the National Committee requires that the facts should be laid before them. You will remember that on the 6th of July there was a meeting of a portion of the National Executive Committee at the St. James Hotel, New York. There were present on that occasion besides ourselves, General Weaver, Lee Orgndall, Edward Daniels and George O. Jones. We were also assisted with the advice and counsel of Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada. At that meeting General Weaver suggested the name of George O. Jones, of New York, for the financial agent of the National Committee to raise funds for the campaign. Nothing was said at that time as to the methods to be pursued by Mr. Jones; that was left to his discretion and has only subsequently become known. Since that meeting you have withdrawn yourself from the campaign. Immediately following his appointment Mr. Jones requested the fact to be communicated to Senator Jones and ex-Senator Dorsey, Secretary of the Republican National Committee. This was done, but how much money was raised no one will probably ever know from Mr. Jones; but it is possible from other sources to state somewhere near the sum he has expended on the national canvass. When General Weaver returned from Arkansas I took occasion to remonstrate with him on this matter, stating that I had been informed by a member of our Executive Committee that George O. Jones had received $5,000 from the Republican campaign fund. General Weaver replied that it made no difference how much had been received, for his tour in Alabama and Arkansas would have been simply impossible without the aid of Mr. Jones extended to him. He further stated that in Alabama he had received from Mr. Jones between nine hundred and one thousand dollars and several hundred while in Arkansas.

"General Weaver left that day for Maine and was accompanied from New York to Boston by Mr. Jones. On that trip it was arranged that General Weaver should denounce fusion in Maine on every available occasion, and take such measures as, in his judgment would be most conductive toward creating disaffection between the allied forces of the Greenbackers and the Democrats. This agreement I heard of in New York before General Weaver had made a single statement to that effect in Maine. How well he tried to fulfill his contract you know. Every dispatch or circular emanating from these headquarters, or from General Weaver, has been drawn to injure the Democracy alone.

"In my capacity as Secretary I have been under the necessity of visiting New York to see Governor Jewell and Assistant Secretary Hooker, the first time in response to a written request from Marshall Jewell, which I still hold. One of these occasions, at Governor Jewell's urgent request, I visited General Chester A. Arthur at his rooms at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the subject of discussion being the effect of a Greenback campaign in New York and elsewhere on the Republican party, my object being to discourage the expenditure of their money in that direction. At one of these interviews Governor Jewell denied having paid to Mr. Jones any such sum as I have stated, and said that Mr. Dorsey had only given him $1,500, and that the rest probably came from General Arthur for State purposes. As General Weaver had had at that time fully that amount from Mr. Jones, upon his own admission, the fact that more had been obtained is obvious to any who have visited the sumptuous parlors occupied by the New York State Greenback committee for headquarters at the Albermarle Hotel New York City."

"What I have stated has come entirely under my own observation. Further, I have in my own possession letters and telegrams from the Republican National Committee headquarters showing their solicitude for the Greenback movement, and written proof of their appropriation of funds to encourage Greenback dissensions. General Weaver's plan of the campaign was formed before his nomination. His ambition has been to throw the election into the House. Last May when reasoning with him on the improbability of success in that case, he said that he was confident that it could be brought around through an alliance with the Republicans who held nineteen states in Congress. At the time I laughed at the idea of Republican sympathy, but the progress of the campaign has demonstrated that every move made by our standard-bearer has been to win the confidence of the Republican party. In case the October election should go heavily Democratic General Weaver's friends are hopeful of inducing the Republicans to withdraw their electoral tickets in West Virginia, Missouri, Texas and Mississippi, and, perhaps secure through their support enough votes to enable the election to be thrown into Congress. In spite of many of these startling facts I hoped on, trusting that Weaver would visit Republican States, in response to urgent requests. Michigan, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Ohio and other states have begged for him, but no, he has only visited those states where in accordance with the terms of the bargain between the Republicans and the 'spawn of a dying party' the Democracy could be injured. He has been constantly in the field since the 12th of July. Has he visited a State where his presence or words were not especially designed to injure the Democracy only? Most of these facts have recently come to your knowledge. I can readily understand why you should wash your hands of the whole business and withdraw yourself. Drawn into the scheme by degrees I am now brought to the point when in honor to myself and to the committee I am compelled to withdraw. Sick and disgusted with the treachery of our leaders, knowing from personal knowledge and correspondence that several of our State organizations, notably Indiana and New York, are managed in the interests of the Republican party, against whose robber legislation we organized, and the fact that the men who essay to lead our party today are duped and made the tools of crafty and scheming time-servers, renders my connection with the committee, as at present managed, no longer possible. For the members of the National Executive Committee in Washington I entertain no other feelings than those of good-will. They are simply carrying out a policy dictated by General Weaver, and are borne along in a current against which they may think it suicidal to struggle. With them I have no controversy at present. I have not touched upon the relations existing between General Weaver's advisers and prominent Republican officials in Washington, in the Post-Office and Treasury departments, nor do I desire to unless effort is made on their part to impeach this statement. In that case the facts could be spread before the National Committee.

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1880

Rev. Dr. Mitchell attended the Presbyterian council at Philadelphia.

During the past year we have added about three hundred new names to our list.

Clark & Son have an elegant stock of new goods. Call and see them.

Rev. J. Eldridge will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

The Y. M. C. A., of Bloomsburg, have leased Hartman's hall and adjoining room. The reading room is free to all.

George Sterling, son of Clinton Sterling, had his hand badly lacerated in a straw cutter last week.

Hon. C. R. Cuckalew went to Wilkesbarre on Wednesday morning. He will be actively engaged in the political field until the election.

W. H. Rhawn, Esq., of Catawissa was made happy last Saturday. A small boy was the cause of it.

Mrs. Josiah Ralston died on Sunday last after a long illness. She was buried on Tuesday at Rosemont Cemetery.

The County Fair begins next Wednesday and will continue four days. Everybody and his family will attend.

The epizootic has made its appearance in New York, Philadelphia and other cities. A large number of horses are afflicted with it.

When you come to the fair, don't you think it would be a good time to call in and pay for your paper, if you have not already done so?

I. W. Hartman is well supplied with all kinds of goods to meet the tastes of his large trade.

There will be a meeting of the Slabtown Democratic club on Wednesday evening, October 13th, at Yerger's hotel. Good speakers will address the meeting.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Fletcher Harris, of Ohio, daughter of William Rupert, is visiting her parents.

Come next week and see the best fair and the biggest crowd that the town has ever known. The attractions this year will be greater than ever before.

Friendship Fire Company No. 1 of this place, will give a ball on Thursday and Friday evenings, October 14th and 15th, in Brower's Hall.

When you attend the Fair, please notice the display of printing from this office. The designs are original—all done at THE COLUMBIAN office. We ask your inspection.

The taxes of every Democrat not previously settled in Locust and Catawissa townships was paid last Saturday. These districts will give a good report on the 2nd of November.

The Locust Democracy, under the leadership of such men as Rolandus Herbein, are fully aroused to the importance of this campaign. They will give a rousing majority this year.

The Democracy of Beaver Valley will raise a pole at Shuman's on Wednesday, October 20th. Addresses will be made by able speakers. A good time is expected.

The year having expired, we have sent statements to a number of subscribers who have not yet paid. We hope they will respond at once. The subscription price is $2.00 unless paid in advance.

Wm. L. Manning, of Jackson township, left on Monday last for Rochester, N. Y., to assist J. F. LeClare & Co., nurserymen, make their distribution for fall delivery of stock. He expects to be absent about two weeks.

Mrs. C. S. Fowler, formerly of Espy, but for a number of years past residing at Scranton, died suddenly at her home on Monday last. The remains were brought to Espy on Wednesday for interment.

Guy Jacoby, Esq., has commenced the practice of law in this town. His office is in the Columbian building with Geo. E. Elwell, where he can be consulted at any time by those who desire his services.

From now until after the election we shall not attempt to furnish our readers with any matter other than political. The great interest that has been created in this campaign will justify us in devoting our columns exclusively to that subject for the present.

John A. Cox is now operating a brick press on land of C. W. Miller and M. S. Smith in the town of Bloomsburg. The press used was purchased from George Carnell, of Philadelphia, and brick pressed by it are as fine as those manufactured in Philadelphia.

Geo. H. Brown has introduced water and gas in the Central Hotel. A handsome gas post has been erected in front. The recent additions and improvements in this house, with the wide reputation which Mr. Brown enjoys as a first class landlord, are fast building up a large custom for the Central.

The county fair this year promises to be one of the largest and most attractive ever held here. The committee is composed of active and energetic gentlemen, and nothing has been left undone to make a complete success. If the weather proves favorable there will be an immense crowd in attendance.

There will be a Democratic pole raising at Jerseytown on Tuesday, October 12th, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. C. R. Buckalew, J. G. Freeze, and others, will address the meeting at 2 o'clock p. m. Let the Democracy of Madison and adjoining townships turn out, and have a big meeting.

THE STRATEGISTS.

Clinton Hall's Strategists had a large audience at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, and well they deserved it. The play is full of good hits, witty sayings, and ridiculous situations. Clinton Hall's triple character was capital and all the others acted well their parts. It was one of the best troupes that has visited here for a long time.

F. R. Hartman, Secretary of the Agricultural Society, will be at the office of T. J. Vanderslice, Esq., in Bloomsburg, on Tuesday evening, October 12th, for the purpose of making entries of articles for exhibition at the fair. All those who wish to avoid the crowd at the grounds on Wednesday morning will do well to take advantage of this opportunity of entering their exhibits.

SENATORIAL CONFERENCE.

The conference of the 24th Senatorial district convened at Danville on Friday last. D. F. Gauger, of Montour was elected President, and S. J. Drinkwater, of Lycoming, Secretary. The following conferees were present: Columbia, A. D. Seeley, Frank Wolf; Lycoming, D. H. Foresman, S. J. Drinkwater; Montour, D. F. Gauger, John Redmond; Sullivan, Benjamin Vaughn, John G. Wright. The following names were put in nomination for Senator: E. J. McHenry, Columbia; B. R. Jackson, Sullivan; W. H. Horta, Montour; John B. Beck, Lycoming. After one hundred ballots with following results: Beck, 4; McHenry, 2; Horta, 1; Jackson, 1. the conference adjourned to meet at the City Hotel, Williamsport, on Wednesday, Oct. 6th.

Clarence Keller, a graduate of this office, now employed on the Scranton Republican, spent last week visiting friends here and at Orangeville.

The Catawissa Hancock and English club was addressed last Saturday evening by Charles G. Barkley and Geo. E. Elwell, Esqrs. There was a good attendance. Most excellent music was furnished by the band.

Hon. C. R. Buckalew, John G. Freeze, Esq., and a speaker from abroad, will address the Democratic meeting at Jerseytown next Tuesday, October 12th.

Wanted for Paint at the Montour Paint Works, Rupert, Pa., one load each of Hay, Straw, Oats and Corn. oct12w

Dr. Smith who has met with such wonderful success in the neighboring towns of Pittston, Sunbury and Danville, is now located at the Exchange Hotel, Bloomsburg, where in order to advertise his German Worm Remedy, which removes Stomach and Seat Worms from child and adult without pain or inconvenience, he will remove Tape Worms free of charge.

General Clement who was announced to speak at the Opera House last Saturday evening for the Republicans, did not arrive. A. C. Smith who has been a doubtful Republican for a few years past, having got back into the fold, was permitted to shoot off some of his fireworks at the Democratic party, just to fill in the time.

The pole raising at Numidia did not take place last Saturday, owing to a defective spike. The pole is 145 feet long, and the weight sprung one of the iron bands out of place. It will be raised on Saturday afternoon of this week.

GLEN CITY COLLIERY INJUNCTION.

By order filed on the 4th inst., accompanied with an opinion, Judge Elwell continued the injunction heretofore issued at the instance of James McAlarney, Executor of Geo. Longenberger, deceased, against the lessees of the colliery, to restrain the removal of the pillars and supports in the mine, provided a bond with sureties in three thousand dollars shall be filed by the plaintiff within five days, if not done, further continuance refused and injunction dissolved.

Are you going to paint? If so, send to the Montour Paint Mills, Rupert, Pa., for your Pure Lead, Slate Colors, Pure Paints, &c., and save the wholesale and retail profit. You can mix your own colors with pure linseed oil for 85 cents to $1.20 per gallon. sep. 10 3m

George W. Reifsnyder, one of the proprietors of the Susquehanna Hotel, at Catawissa, returned home last Saturday from an extended trip in the west, after an absence of two months. He met with a warm reception from his many friends, and the band gave him a serenade. Captain M. M. Boulet made a neat speech to welcome to one of Catawissa's most popular citizens, and on behalf of Mr. Reifsnyder, thanked the band for the compliment extended by them. Mr. Reifsnyder visited Leadville and many other points of interest, and has returned much pleased with his trip, and looking as though his journey had done him much good.

NOTICE! BLOOMSBURG WATER COMPANY.

September 21st, 1880.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bloomsburg Water Company will be held at their office in Bloomsburg, on Tuesday the 12th day of October next at 2 o'clock p. m., when an election will be held for nine directors to serve for the ensuing year.

FRANK P. BILLMEYER,
Sep. 24 3w Secretary.

POLE RAISING.

On Saturday, Oct. 2nd, a beautiful hickory pole, 72 feet high, was raised near Union church, in Jackson township, displaying a "Hancock and English" streamer. From a tower point on the pole, the national flag was thrown to the breeze, and to the rope which swung it across the street was tied a new broom. Jackson will make a clean sweep this fall. Men, women and children, on foot, on horseback and in wagons, came in from all directions. Old men and little boys all flocked to the raising. It is a hopeful sign to see whole households attend the meetings, and to find the wives and the sweethearts no less interested than the lovers and the husbands.

After the pole was on end and had been greeted with three cheers, the meeting was called to order by Silas W. McHenry, Esquire, on whose motion John F. Derr, Esq., was made President, and J. W. Kitchen, W. B. Robbins, Gen. Hurliman, Calvin Derr and Ezekiel Cole, Vice Presidents, and T. F. Smith and S. B. Hess, Secretaries.

The President then called upon B. F. Derr, Esq., to address the meeting. He was followed by Col. John G. Freeze, and when the speaking was done, Mr Jack Derr gave a capital campaign song after which the meeting adjourned with three cheers for "The Democratic Party," and three more for Hancock and English.

BERWICK LETTER.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

There is more fever and ague in this town at present than has been for a number of years. The physicians are kept very busy.

Mr. Lahman Bower and wife returned from their wedding tour last Friday evening. They were married at the home of the bride's parents in Connecticut on the 27th of September. A happier home than theirs will be, is not easily to be found.

The Young Men's Christian Association of town have already advertised a lecture course for the winter season. Among the lecturers are J. H. Vincent, D. D., Col. J. R. Sanford, and Dr. Jay J. Villers.

Last Friday evening the Republicans held a grand meeting in their hall: the speaker of the evening was A. H. Dickson, of Wilkesbarre. Mr. Harding, son of Judge Harding, made a short address. On Friday evening of this week the Democrats will hold an open air meeting. For speakers they have engaged Hon. A. B. Brundage, of Wilkesbarre and Hon. F. H. Childs, of New York.

Samuel Dieterick, an employee in the car shops, was injured yesterday. A car passed over him. His injuries are not very serious.

The opening of the public schools was delayed until the 28th ult. This was because the new building was not completed. We have now six schools and already three hundred and sixty pupils.

A free night school will be opened next Monday evening for the benefit of young men who are employed during the day. The enterprise will be supported by several benevolent citizens. It is a very creditable move.

Very few pheasants have found their way into town since the season opened. Mr. Hopkins should probably wear the laurels as a pheasant shot. Whether in real or imaginary hunts, he always reports success. Jackson, Esq. went in quest of this game on Saturday, but was only rewarded with a rail bird. His companion reports that he, Jackson, traversed a large woods, again and again, until in a huge perspiration and utterly exhausted, in search of a cock bird that he heard drumming on a log: the bass drum at a republican pole raising was the ignis fatuus.

REPORTER.

Ask your druggist for Prof. Guilmette's French Kidney Pad, and take no other, as this is the only pad guaranteed to cure or money refunded.

Hon. F. P. Dewees, of Pottsville, has withdrawn from the canvass as the nominee of the Greenback party for Judge of the Supreme Court of this State. He couldn't stand the sale of the party to the Republicans by General Weaver.

THE VOLTAIC BELT CO., MARSHALL MICH.

Will send their celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts to the afflicted upon 30 days trial. Speedy cures guaranteed. They mean what they say. Write to them without delay. Nov. 21-1y.

Robert R. Little, Esq. made a good speech at the Hancock club meeting on Wednesday night. Col. Freeze also made a brief but pointed address. N. U. Funk, Esq., will speak next Wednesday evening.

ELECTION BALLADS.

Hancock at Gettysburg. July 3, 1863.

At this tumultuous moment we witnessed a deed of heroism such as we are apt to attribute only to knights of the olden time. Hancock, mounted, and accompanied by his staff, Major Mitchell, Captain Harry Bingham, Captain Rose Parker, and Captain E. P. Brosson, with the corps flag flying in the hands of a brave Irishman, private James Wells, of the 69th New York Cavalry, started at the right of his line where it joins the Taneytown road, and slowly rode along the terrible crest to the extreme left of his position, while shot and shell poured and crashed around him, and every moment tore great gaps in the ranks at his side. Just as Hancock reached the left of his line the rebel battery ceased to play, and Longstreet's old guard, is too strong, were seen emerging from the woods and advancing up the hill. "Here they come!" cries Hancock cheerily. "Here they come, in three lines of battle, steady men steady." "All right, General! We are ready! We hold this line or die on it." It was an awful day. Of the men who either in the attack, 3,000 fell or were captured on the hill side. Thirty stand of colors and an immense number of small arms were taken. Hancock was everywhere riding the storm of battle as if he bore a charmed life.—

PUSEY'S LIFE OF HANCOCK.

Along the heights of Gettysburg,
Upon that dreadful day,
When Longstreet's famous legions
Were massing for the fray;
When shot and shell were sweeping
Our living ranks away,
Then Hancock rode along our lines
In battle's stern array.

Whose silken folds all close
The Union banner once again
To our embattled foes;
And dying soldiers wildly greet
That banner, soaring high,
And cheer it to the echo,
As the Hero passes by.

While Longstreet hurls his tigers
Against the Union heights,
Bold Hancock leads his veterans
In all those stormy fights;
For hours the battle rages,
And with the setting sun
He falls among his dying men,
—But Gettysburg is won—

Then three times three for Hancock,
And three times three for those
Who stood by him upon that day
Against the Union foes;
Raise high your voices for him,
His praises loud proclaim,
And heap the highest honors
Upon his gallant name.

CONKLING ANSWERED

It was throughout an insidious assault upon the best character, purposes and hopes of the Republican party, and under a pretense of vindicating and defending it put the argument in such a shape that the effect of it must be to repel every man of generous feelings and honest logic by whom it is carefully read. Its only object was to revive and reinforce that narrow, odious and malignant sectionalism against which all the better members of the party have been struggling for the last ten years. It says in so many words that the issue of the present campaign is sectional and only sectional; and in order to prove that it frames what Burke thought to be impossible, "the indictment of a whole people," in the lowest spirit of the carpet bagger and demagogue.

* * * The entire animus of Mr. Conkling's reasoning is that the President should be elected by the machine, and when elected controlled by the machine. He is not to address himself to an impartial administration of the duties of his office, according to certain fixed political principles, but he is to become the instrument of predominating interests, or of those parts of the nation where 'production, consumption, building, tilled acreage, railway tariff, postal returns,' etc., happen to be in the ascendant. But that is not the spirit of our constitution. The constitution fixes, with great minuteness of detail, the modes of our elections, and when an election is closed it regards the result as the act of the whole people. In order to get an expression of the manhood of the nation each vote counts as one and as good as any other vote, and, as Mr. Conkling himself says in the outset of his address, 'the supreme, the final, the only peaceful arbiter is the ballot box. In that urn should be gathered and from it should be sacredly recorded the conscience, the judgment, the intelligence of all.' But no, argues Mr. Conkling afterward, it is not the votes that ought to be considered, but the places that the votes come from. If they are put in by the South, which is unfortunately impoverished by a long civil war and many years of carpet-bag extortion and riot, they are bad and dangerous votes; but if they are put in by the North, where commerce, industry and manufactures thrive and large revenues are paid, they are good and wholesome votes and entitled to the rule.

In order to justify his cold-blooded sectionalism, and to carry the Republican cause back to the state in which it was at the close of Grant's administration, ignoring the noble and efficient services of Mr. Hayes and his Cabinet in healing old sores and bringing about kind and conciliatory feelings, Mr. Conkling gets up a tremendous bugaboo if it were not of the kind which bites off its own head. His mode of constructing the scarecrow, put in a logical shape, would be this: First, the Democratic party, if it succeeds, would be controlled by the South; second, but the South is only one-seventh of the people of the Union, and has but one-fourteenth of the producing, commercial, industrial, taxpaying and property interests of the country; and ergo, third the whole vast business of the country will be at the disposal of a very inconsiderable minority of those who are concerned in it. A formidable conclusion, indeed, if it were valid; but assumptions of fallacy lurk both in the premise and the conclusion, and nobody needs to be frightened out of his senses.

The first assumption or implication is that the South can succeed by itself, which it cannot. Even if we suppose it solid (and it is by no means certain that it will be so in November) it cannot succeed without the aid of two or three of the great middle States, which are most important factors in that sum of 'producing, commercial, industrial, taxpaying and property interest' which Mr. Conkling flourishes in its face. It cannot succeed without securing a majority of votes in New Jersey, New York, Indiana and some State in New England and on the Pacific slope. Now these determining States represent a very large part of these commercial, industrial and property interests which are used to make the contrast between the North and South. If our orator had been an honest statesman, as he is an ardent politician, he would have instituted a comparison, not between the North and South, but between the Republican and Democratic States; but then the entire basis of his superstructure would have fallen away and he would have had no scarecrow at all.

The second assumption is that the South, which can only win by the assistance of these great Middle States, would originate a policy, if it had the power, certain to alienate their sympathies and support. But what can be more preposterous than to suppose that it would run counter to the convictions and political prospects not only of these great Middle States, but of that very large minority in the Republican States which constitutes an essential part of the Democratic force—nearly half the people in fact? How soon would it sink into utter impotence if it attempted to outrage the opinions or even prejudices of the North and West? It could not live a year in the enjoyment of its power; and its allies at the North would be irreparably destroyed. Besides, the largest States of 'the South,' and those which are likely to have the most to say in its councils are Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Arkansas, which belong to the great middle group, and those of Indiana, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania. Under the operation of the living forces which bring localities together they would gravitate more and more toward these; and no political party, call it by what name you will, would dare to come in conflict with the tendencies of opinion in these mighty centres of civilization, trade and activity. These States, though nominally belonging to 'the South,' because of their former tolerance of slavery, are now, under free influences, rapidly amalgamating with the States near and around them. They were never strongly Southern, and have become decidedly Northern. They would never cling for any length of time to a policy decisively Southern; their alliances are with the North and West, and with them in the end they will be found. * * Mr. Conkling has done much hitherto to drive independent thinkers from their Republican adhesions, and his present ill-judged, illogical and malicious speeches will we fear, quicken the departures.—New York Evening Post. (Rep.)

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 2nd, 1880.

REPUBLICAN DEMORALIZATION AND ITS CAUSES. THE REAL AND GREAT ISSUE.

It really looks as though the stampede of the Republicans had commenced. All their manufactured courage and pluck has oozed out and they are to-day as badly demoralized as when they first heard of Hancock's nomination. Of course Maine has had something to do with this result. Gen. Hancock's unequivocal letter on Southern claims has hereft dishonest alarmists of one of their most effective spooks, and Governor Hendrick's emphasis of the really greatest issue of this campaign has, to all appearances, made solid the deciding October state.

Your correspondent, to be sure, is only a correspondent, and it does not become him to have opinions like the Olympian oracular editor. But I will make mes If heard, sometimes, if not understood and what I wish to remark now is that it always seemed to me a great waste of energy to laboriously dig up and sift to the winds the mole hills of Credit Mobilier and De Golyer, while the mountainous excrescence of the Presidential steal is charged with dynamite to our hand. I know Mr. Garfield personally: I have studied him politically. I believe he was guilty in the Credit Mobilier and De Golyer business. I might be able to pardon him for these thefts; the thief on the cross was pardoned; doubtless Mr Garfield has as bitter lamented for them as did Barabbas for his sins. But the Judas Iscariot that betrayed popular suffrage with a kiss; that put to an ignoble death the vox populi of the United States; that blasphemed the spirit of liberty in the holy centenary of its birth! Can there be in time or eternity adequate punishment for such as he?

If the Republican party had put up their purest and most exalted name, a candidate who was at the veritable North Pole, instead of in Louisiana, and of the Electoral Commission, when of the sacred will of the people "a damned defeat was made"—he still must have been beaten on that issue, than which in all wonderful history of the world, there has been none greater, plainer, or more vital.

LIFE OF GEN. HANCOCK.

The life of General Winfield Scott Hancock, related in soldier-fashion by General James S. Brisbin, has been prepared from material furnished by General Hancock and Gen. Mitchell of his staff. The details therefore, may be relied on as entirely trustworthy. The work is recognized by the National Democratic Committee as the leading campaign biography of General Hancock. Republicans will buy the book to see what the author, a staunch Republican, has to say of his friend General Hancock. Democrats will buy the book because it is officially endorsed by the Democratic party. Some few documents and a brief sketch of Mr. William H. English have been added that the reader might find the book a reference volume for the mighty struggle just begun, as well as an interesting story of a great life. The name of the author is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the work. He prepared the manuscript originally for a $2.00 book but condensed it somewhat, and it is now offered to the public at the remarkable low price of 25 cents.

In the "Publisher's Notice" Mr. Smith says: This hasty sketch of one whose greatness is not of his sword only, is written out of friendship and admiration for its hero. The book has been called forth by the necessity that exists for a cheap and reliable edition of the Life of General Hancock that tells the reader who he is and what he has done to deserve the reader's esteem and approbation. Gen. Hancock deserves election not only because he has been selected by the Democratic party, but for his individual worth and the undisputed title he has won to a nation's gratitude. A soldier preeminent in battle, a statesman prominent in peace, a citizen conspicuous in the hour of his country's need.

We predict that the boook will have a tremendous sale at political gatherings throughout the country. Agents are wanted.

The work is published by L. Lum Smith, 717 Sansom street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The importance of protecting children's shoes from wear at the toe, all parents are aware of, but many have neglected to avail themselves of this great saving on account of the appearance of the metal tip. All such will find the A. S. T. Co.'s Black Tip advertised in another column, just the thing they have been looking for. Beautiful, neat, they will wear as long as metal.

HOW TO GET almost Everything.

Do you know how to get in the easiest way and to best advantage what you want for dress and house-furnishing?

First, how: Write for a catalogue; see what you can learn from it about the things you want. If samples can be useful to you, ask for them and state your wants so plainly that exactly the right samples can be sent.

Second, where: The place where goods are kept in the greatest variety; where they are sold for what they really are in respect to quality; where prices are lowest; where most care is taken to serve customers acceptably; and where you have the right to return whatever is not satisfactory.

There—no matter where you are—if you make your wants known and avail yourself of your privileges, you will get the best things in the best way, promptly and without trouble or risk; sometimes by mail, sometimes by express, almost always at less cost for carriage than the money you save in the price.

ESTEY ORGANS.

STRONG COMPETITION

In the manufacture of Organs is resulting in the production and sale of cheap goods, made from inferior materials. The Solid South.

Why did not our republican friends, who affect to see now such danger in the solid south, point out and protest against the danger when the south was absolutely solid for the republican party? If the danger to the country and the only danger that threatens it, lies in the solidity of that portion of it, we surely must have been in great peril when under the reconstruction acts, administered by carpet-bag adventurers, the south presented a solid phalanx of radical bummers and thieves as her contribution to the wisdom, the statesmanship and the patriotism of the country. No republican orator among those who are now telling the people that the solidity of the south means war, pestilence and famine, the overthrow of our institutions, the abrogation of the constitution, and more than all other evils the defeat of Garfield, then warned his unsuspecting countryman of the imminent danger threatening him. No stalwart organ called then upon the loyal north to avert this peril by becoming solidly democratic, because the south was solidly republican. Then everything was serene in the republican camp, and all went merry as a marriage bell. Every office holder was a republican, and the country was necessarily not only safe but prosperous. Gigantic monopolies appropriated the public domain; lobbyists drove an unblushing and prosperous trade on the very floor of congress; whisky rings defrauded the government of millions, while the chiefs of the swindlings hobnobbed with high officials, and Black Fridays, De Golyer pavements and Credit Mobilier brought out in strong light the incorruptible honesty of our rulers and our would-be rulers. Thank God, in these disgraceful scandals, which should make every honest citizen blush for shame, the democratic south had no share.—Wade Hampton's New York Speech.

Wonderful Statistics.

Statistics prove that only one person out of some thousands travelling gets killed, that one out of some hundreds working in powder mills gets blown up and that one out of 282 fighting duels gets killed. Pretty soon they will be able to prove by statistics that nothing is very dangerous.

A Credit to Philadelphia.

Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier have completed, furnished and opened the addition to their fine store at Eighth and Market streets. The enlargement is one that should be seen to be appreciated, and is worth a visit solely on its own account. With a view to the enlargement necessitated by the growing business, the store No. 8 North Eighth street, which adjoined the rear of their main building, was first purchased, together with a row of eleven dwellings on Filbert Avenue, a court extending from the rear of the Market street store clear back to Filbert street.

On the north end of this lot a handsome new building, with two show windows on the first floor, was run up to the height of four stories. Between that and the main building, on Market street, two corridors were constructed, one above the other, and then the Eighth street store being made to open into them, thus throwing the two lower floors of all the buildings into one, obtaining three handsome fronts on Market, on Eighth, and on Filbert street and making Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's establishment unequaled in the city in point of size.

To give some idea of the dimensions of their colossal building as it stands, be it said that the fronts measure on Market street 100 feet, on Filbert 24 and on Eighth 130, and the west wall from street to street, is 305 feet in one unbroken line. Under the entire extent of the store runs a basement which is devoted chiefly, save a portion under the main building and a few alcoves for various purposes, to the storage of goods, for the reception of which beneath the Filbert street front a substantial iron slide rack has been constructed; and the entrance way above, in the dark green and gilty facade, between two handsomely filled show windows, is a good point at which to begin an inspection of the establishment.

Entering here and looking along the corridor, which gives you a clear view through to Market street, you have before you the silk department, and at your right, behind the west shop window, a small room walled with mirrors, for the purpose of displaying the effect of colored silks by gaslight. On the left is a suit of alcoves hospitably arranged for the convenience of traveling salesmen exhibiting samples of goods, or seeking a quiet retreat for writing business letters.

Passing up the corridor, with the silks on your right and on the left the extensive department devoted to the sale of black dress goods, you reach the main desks where either or both the partners may usually be found, and have upon your left the entire extent of the Eighth street store, one side of which is devoted to fancy work and the other to notions, silk fringes and passementerie.

Directly in front of you is the vast square of the first floor of the extensive main building, devoted, in its many sets of great counters and towering shelves, to cloths, woolen goods, hosiery, calicoes, laces, white goods, gentlemen's furnishing goods and fancy articles, so that from the main desk Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier can, with one sweep of the eye, command the whole extent of that floor of their emporium, upon which the bulk of their immense business of buying and selling is carried on.

At this point, also, you remark, just in the rear of the Eighth street store (though be it not forgotten, by the way, that the main store itself has two entrances on Eighth street, besides the three from Market street,) a stairway leading to a central point on the second floor. If you choose you may dispense with this and go up by the elevator, on the west side near the Market street front; but, if you take the stairs, which have an easy slope, you see from the first landing the private office of Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier; an apartment furnished in the best taste, and looking into Eighth street; or turning toward the main building, you emerge upon its second floor, which in extent is precisely the same as the first, down upon which you look through large openings, protected with substantial and handsome balustrades. Here, in a room co-extensive with the Market street store, are the boys' clothing department, along the west wall; the shawl and suit department, along the Eighth street side, and the very extensive underwear department along the front and west side, the rear portion of which is devoted to children's suits, many of them being tastefully displayed with a miniature cheval glass for "trying on," which is obviously the delight of the rising generation.

With the same object, along the corridor, which extends northward parallel with the corridor on the first floor, are a series of alcoves, with waiting rooms between where ladies may wait for friends who are having dresses fitted. But it is at the head of the corridor that you find what is really the gem of the whole establishment. This is the Ladies' Parlor. Railed in from intrusion, furnished and decorated in the best drawing room style, roofed over with glass, a north light, by the way, that would delight the School of Design and the Academy of fine Arts, this charming inclosure is supplied with the leading newspapers and magazines, with writing materials and with most inviting chairs and sofas, freely open to all lady customers, and is one of the prettiest as well as the most convenient features ever introduced into any store in this city. At the Filbert street end of the corridor, which is admirably lighted and ventilated, as, indeed, is the entire store are the three floors occupied by the sewing girls of the establishment.

On the third floor of the main building is the wholesale department; on the fourth the packing and order departments, the latter being especially worth a visit for the sake of examining Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothiers' invention for supplying their extensive out-of-town trade with samples of their goods. On the fifth floor are the dressing room and restaurant, where the saleshalies are supplied with dinner, and, of course, the kitchen where the repast is prepared, all its arrangements being remarkable for their completeness; conveniences and neatness. In short, the novelty, good taste, completeness and excellence of Messrs Strawbridge & Clothier's establishment are such that, independently of its vast size, one can hardly imagine a greater treat to a lady than an inspection of a store which would be a credit to any city in the world, and which is sure to enhance the fame of Philadelphia as a city of commercial enterprise.

It is difficult in the limits of a newspaper article to give an accurate description of such a vast repository of business skill and enterprise as the subject of this sketch. Yesterday, for the first time, the house was formally opened to the public, and the vast crowds of delighted ladies and gentlemen that thronged the rooms, especially during the afternoon hours, presented a sight not soon to be forgotten and reminding one of the busy Centennial times.

As one of the institutions of our city, and as representing its best business spirit and enterprise, we cordially wish success to this great Philadelphia house. —Inquirer, Sept. 16th.

'A faithful assistant.' This is what the nurses term Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. It is the best assistant as it will prevent a 'Crying-Spell' of the baby.

An interesting trial by jury was held at Honesdale, Pa. Three children—respectfully nine, seven and six years, were arrested and charged with assault upon a little girl aged eight. The prosecutrix swore that while returning home from school she was set upon by the three defendants and so terribly punished that the loss of hearing and one eye was the result. The children were acquitted.

Workingmen.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winter of relaxation, your system needs cleansing and strengthening to prevent an attack of ague, Bilious or Spring Fever, or some other spring sickness that will unfit you for a season's work. You will save time, much sickness and great expense if you will use one bottle of Hop Bitters in your family this month. Don't wait.—Burlington Hawkeye.

They ought to have Garfield down in Maine to assist in the count. He showed much ability in that line as one of the immortal eight.

A Word to Mothers.

Mothers should remember that a most important duty at this season is to look after the health of their families and cleanse the malaria and impurities from their systems. There is nothing that will tone up the stomach and liver, regulate the bowels, and purify the blood so perfectly as Parker's Ginger Tonic, advertised in our columns. The wonderful cures of long standing cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, and malarial disorders is the reason why this pure and excellent family medicine is so generally esteemed.—Ad.

Rupture

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—AND THE ONLY DR. SHERMAN known to the public for the past 25 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury usually inflicted, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by leather-form treatment.

No man is safe who has a Rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the thirty-five thousand who each year die from its effects, either neglected it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand still affair; it is active, progressive, even unto death, and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved from it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day. During treatment any kind of active exercise or labor can be performed without interfering with the treatment, and with safety from the dangers of strangulated Rupture. HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen, and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom the highest in the country and the West Indies. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. In consequence of the great demand for Dr. Sherman's personal services, he will till further notice, divide his time between his New York and Boston offices as follows: Saturday, Monday and Tuesday he may be consulted at his New York office and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at his Boston office, each week. Remember, in writing or calling, the address is PERFECTLY SAFE IN THE MOST INEXPERIENCED HANDS!

For Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Cholera,
AND ALL THOSE NUMEROUS TROUBLES OF THE STOMACH AND BOWELS SO PREVALENT AT THIS SEASON.
No Remedy known to the Medical Profession has been in use so long and with such uniformly satisfactory results as

PERRY DAVIS'
VEGETABLE
PAIN KILLER

It has been used with such wonderful success in all parts of the world in the treatment of these difficulties, that it has come to be considered

AN UNFAILING CURE FOR ALL SUMMER COMPLAINTS

and such it really is when taken in time and according to the very plain directions inclosing each bottle.

In such diseases, the attack is usually sudden and frequently very acute; but with a safe remedy at hand for immediate use, there is seldom danger of the fatal result which so often follows a few days' neglect.

The inclination to wait and see if the morrow does not bring a better feeling, not infrequently occasions a vast amount of needless suffering, and sometimes costs a life. A timely dose of Pain Killer will almost invariably save both, and with them the attendant doctor's fee.

It has stood the test of forty years' constant use in all countries and climates, and is perfectly safe in any person's hands.

It is recommended by Physicians, Nurses in Hospitals, and persons of all classes and professions who have had opportunity for observing the wonderful results which have always followed its use.

THE BEST EVIDENCE:

I have long used the medicine known as PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER in my family and would not be without it. When Cholera was last epidemic here, I used no medicine of any sort but the Pain Killer, and although myself and several members of my family were attacked severely, I am happy to say that the Pain Killer was equal to every emergency. I consider I should not be doing my duty to the community did I not say this much. If I were attacked by the Cholera to-day, Pain Killer would be the only remedy I should use. I have thoroughly tested it, and know it can be relied on.
F. E. BIRGINSEND, Galena, Illinois.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON:
I know you need no testimonial to convince you that your medicine is all that you claim for it, but I cannot restrain the impulse to communicate to you the fact that in my family it has truly done wonders. I administered it to my children (nine eighteen months, and the other three years old) with perfect success. It regulates their bowels, and stops all diarrhœa. Myself and wife resort to it in all cases, both for internal and external use. I've used it in my family for five years, and will not be without it. Feeling myself under much obligation to you, to many times being relieved from pain, I am very truly yours,
L. F. MOORE, Bangal, Dutchess Co., New York.

No family can afford to be without it, and its price brings it within the reach of all.
The use of one bottle will go further to convince you of its merits than columns of newspaper advertising. Try it, and you will never do without it.
Price 25c. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. You can obtain it at any drug-store or from

THE GREAT MEXICAN REMEDY.
Thousands suffering from Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Scrofula and kindred diseases will hail with delight this new and wonderful discovery, which as a disease conqueror and health restorer, has no equal at this present time. The Great Mexican Remedy was first introduced into California in 1870, where in a few months it gained such a popularity as to create a demand for the medicine from Maine to Florida. It is the only medicine in the world compounded from the native plants, roots and herbs of Mexico. It never fails to cure the worst forms of Scrofula, common blotch, pimples, or eruption, while it clears and beautifies the complexion. Sickness of the stomach, sour eructations, sick and nervous headache, low spirits, and kindred affections, will find the Mexican Remedy a speedy and sure relief. The genuine is placed before the public, under the following name:
Herbaline Bitters the Great Mexican Remedy.
Call on your druggist and get a bottle of the Mexican Remedy and continue your use. What it is the Best Medicine in the World,
